It Depends Who's Holding the Rock: what do you notice?

Five moments to examine with your team.

Every recurring problem produces a request for another tool.

Describe a specific example before deciding what it means.

People use policy to end a conversation they could clarify.

Describe a specific example before deciding what it means.

Two managers apply the same rule differently.

Describe a specific example before deciding what it means.

A dashboard replaces asking what happened.

Describe a specific example before deciding what it means.

Responsibility is assigned to the process without examining a decision.

Describe a specific example before deciding what it means.

Choose one moment.

Notice what the tool permits and what the person using it chooses. Choose one tool or policy and examine one decision about how it is being used.

Bring the observation into the room.

Bring one process your team keeps replacing. We will look at the choices made around it. Save these questions.