

One repeated team moment. What does it teach? Start with something you can observe.

02

Choose one moment that happens often: a meeting opening, a handoff, or a response when someone asks for help.

Write down what happened. Who spoke? How did others respond? Record the behavior before deciding what it means.

04

Consider what that response encourages folks to do next time. Compare what you intended with what you observed.

Choose one response to make on purpose next time. Write down what you will do and why.

Choose where to start.

Use the Culture Scorecard.

Comment

SCORECARD

Save this for your next team conversation.

