

Culture is what your environment produces. Whether you intended it or not.

02

A value statement tells us what we want. The behavior around us tells us what the environment is producing.

Look at what gets rewarded.
Look at what gets tolerated. Look at what folks learn to keep to themselves.

04

Those conditions matter when we ask people to behave differently. We created the conditions, but we punished the outcomes.

Culture is always happening. The question is whether we designed the conditions or defaulted into them.

Choose where to start.

Use the Culture Scorecard.

Comment

SCORECARD

Save this for your next team conversation.

