

Why I returned to the leadership conversation.

02

My previous TEDx talk addressed developing leaders at scale. Leadership was the subject.

I returned with a different perspective. This talk examines the conditions we create around leaders.

04

We can overlook the load. When someone handles things well, we may think they have less to handle.

They're still people. Agreeing to lead does not mean surrendering their humanity.

06

Look at the support. Leaders go first, but they cannot go alone.
